

THE GOSPEL
SAINT LUKE

CHAPTER I
Inasmuch as many have undertaken to compile a narrative of all that Jesus began to do and teach, as far as they have known it; as also many have undertaken to do so, but in order, and not according to the truth which they have received; as also many have undertaken to do so, but in order, and not according to the truth which they have received; as also many have undertaken to do so, but in order, and not according to the truth which they have received;

CHAPTER II
And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and taught them in the temple, and said unto them, Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves; therefore be ye wise as serpents, and harmless as doves; but beware of men, for they will deliver you up to the synagogues, and to the temple, to be killed: and ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake. But whosoever shall endure to the end, the same shall be saved.

CHAPTER III
And it came to pass in those days, that there came a certain leper, and worshipped him, and said unto him, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst cleanse me. And he said unto him, Rise up, and be cleansed; and thy sins be forgiven thee. And he departed, praising God with a loud voice, and saying, Many sins are forgiven me, forasmuch as I have believed. And he returned, glorifying God, and saying, Many sins are forgiven me, forasmuch as I have believed.
