

pretty regularly since last Christmas eve.
As far as my broken leg is concerned - the pain is still so bad I barely can walk a few steps - I had a very expensive test at St. Francis a couple of weeks ago to check for infection, but there wasn't any. He has told me it will just take a very long time to heal - maybe another year. (Sept, 1997 was when I broke it). He thinks that will make the pain go away - So I'm praying for acceptance & try to just deal with the pain & being in the wheelchair.

My therapist, Carolyn, whom I've gone to for over 4 years is leaving next month.
I'm not panicky - just sad. - I go to area mtgs every month - got elected, phone line chair. Am alternate G S Rat Menomonge.

Hi Linda,

I didn't know what cut us off last night, but Will explained it to me tonight - He didn't think he should give out your hospital number because of anonymity, so while he's sitting there he said he would deliver a note when he visits.

I accept your ammends & am just sorry you have the pain & disability that I've known so long.

I've changed alot since we've seen each other. My perception of God & spirituality has changed - I've been going to church

Well, Linda, I'll pray for your speedy & healthy recovery -

I could use prayers also.

Call when you feel like it & let me know more -

Your NA. friend & God bless
